

What we offer you:

- Unique opportunity for professional development providing advanced and complex analysis using high-end tools and software
- Opportunity for international career and business travels
- Competitive salary together with yearly bonus
- Great working atmosphere based on constant development and mutual support

We – Allianz Deutschland AG – as one of our groups' flagships have set up an advanced and high-end Analytics Center in Wroclaw in summer 2019. Our main task is to serve as decision-making support for our top management and the relevant specialist areas and to meet the regulatory requirements under Solvency II.

You are studying mathematics or a math-related subject? You are looking for a successful start to your career with ambitious and challenging tasks within an international environment?
